Binder for personal use

The BINDOMATIC 1000 is a small and manually operated binder designed mainly for personal use, yet producing the same professionally bound documents as the more advanced binders, and it will fit on your desk!

No larger than an A4 size folder, you will appreciate the fact that it is right by your side. Up to five documents can be bound at the same time, and the practical built-in cover spine width indicator will make sure you always use the correct size cover. Bind documents up to 120 sheets without hazzle. Binding time is less than a minute per binding cycle in continuous binding mode.

If you need to remove, replace or add sheets, simply re-heat the binding. With the wide range of BINDOMATIC Soft and Hard covers, your business presentations, reports, proposals, statements, manuals etc will always look and feel as professional as the content and message of your document.

The binder includes a practical spine width indicator.
